SOLOMONS SAVED IN BIG NAVAL BATTLE

Meandering Along the Main Stem

By WASH FAYETTE

The Physiotherapy Review, a magazine published by the American Physiotherapy Association, carries in the September issue, several pictures of a local girl, Miss Helen McElwain, taken in a Boston hospital where Harvard Medical students receive their practice while in training. Miss McElwain recently accepted a position on the hospital staff at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor.

The series of pictures demonstrate correct procedures in the treatments of patients. Miss McElwain, daughter of Mrs. Ethyl McElwain, and a graduate of Washington High School, was graduated in physiotherapy course at Harvard.

When you get to thinking about riding comfortably in your car a little less... have one less cup of coffee... and a little less sugar... of paying a little more in taxes... all because of this war... and get to feeling so very sorry for yourself... just pick up your newspaper and read about what's going on over in the Solomon Islands... and feel very ashamed.

At least one Washington boy is over there... he'd probably think you have a pretty soft part to play in this war... and would consider it a privilege to be able to pay taxes... and an ultra luxury to sit down at a table and drink even sugarless weak coffee... or just to sit on the soft seat of an automobile... instead, he spends his days and nights flitting with death and enduring hardships... to put it mildly.

David Whiteside has just received a letter from Fred Daily... he gave his message in just 14 words... and told three important facts... here's the letter: "I'm with the Marines on Guadalcanal in the Solomon Islands. Am in good health."

The letter was postmarked August 31, 1942. Fred was one of the family of homeless boys and girls for whom Mr. and Mrs. Whiteside made a home at the County Children's Home... many boys from the home are in the service all over the world... word comes from them almost daily.

It was the second sentence of Fred's letter that impressed me... as it did Mr. Whiteside... "Am in good health"... how important that was and is to a boy in battle... how it does make all else seem insignificant... things have happened in the Solomon Islands since Fred wrote that letter... here's hoping fervently that he will get back home to worry about such comparative trivialities as rationing and taxes after he wins this war.

ROMAN CATHOLIC AID PUT IN WAR EFFORT

'We Must Win,' Cardinal Says
At Mass

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2.—(AP)—The night of the Roman Catholic Church in America for victory in the war effort was placed before the world yesterday by Dennis Cardinal Dougherty, archbishop of Philadelphia, during a solemn pontifical mass heard by 21,000 at Convention Hall.

"If we lose the war this land will be the choice prize of the spoils," he said. "It will be pounced upon by vultures which will devour it to the bone. We must, we will win the victory."

DRAFT OFFICIAL BEATEN;
FBI LAUNCHES PROBE

COLUMBUS, Nov. 2.—(AP)—State Selective Service headquarters reported today the Federal Bureau of Investigation was inquiring into the beating of an Ironton draft board member by an irate registrant.

State draft officials said a physician member of the board was "beaten and kicked" in his Ironton office Friday afternoon and had made a full report to headquarters.

President Asks More Sweeping Wartime Powers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—(AP)—President Roosevelt asked Congress today to give him sweeping wartime power to suspend any law, particularly tariffs, found interfering with the "free movement of persons, property and information" into and out of the United States.

Asserting that speed and volume of war output have become more than ever in our history the "primary conditions of victory," Mr. Roosevelt said in a special message:

"To achieve an all out war production effort, we must implement and supplement the steps already taken by the Congress and the President to eliminate those peace time restrictions which limit our ability to make the fullest and quickest use of the world's resources."

The President asked that he be empowered for the duration of the war to "suspend the operation of all or any such laws, in such a way as to meet new and perhaps unforeseen problems as they may arise, and on such terms as will enable the Chief Executive and government agencies to work out in detail parallel action in other countries."

Government agencies, Mr. Roosevelt said, had already removed many administrative restrictions on the movement of war goods, information and persons, but there remained "many legislative obstacles to that movement which impede and delay our war production effort."

The Chief Executive said these obstacles fell into two categories. One, he asserted, directly affected the movement in and out of the United States of material, information and persons needed for the war effort and included customs duties and the administrative supervision required by law affecting movement of persons and property at our borders and ports.

In the second category he placed laws imposing limitations on the procurement, acquisition or the use of non-American

ELECTION GAINS BY REPUBLICANS NOW FORECAST

One of Lightest Votes in History Expected in Ohio
As in Rest of Nation

(By The Associated Press)

With Republicans predicting "substantial" gains and Democrats conceding them some but not enough to control, America's adult millions will pause briefly in their drive to win the war to vote tomorrow in the "off-year" elections which will determine the make-up of the 78th Congress and state administrations.

In the first wartime election since 1918, when the Republicans gained control from a Democratic Congress under Woodrow Wilson and held it for 12 years, upwards of 30,000,000 voters—light compared with former years—are expected to choose from more than 1,600 candidates, 33 senators, 432 House members, 32 governors and a host of other state officers.

Sharp reductions in registrations indicated a light vote despite appeals from party leaders, including President Roosevelt, that citizens go to the polls. The Republicans claimed they would pick up at least seven new Senate seats—six of them now held by Democrats and the seventh by the veteran independent, Norris of Nebraska. They have only 29 now, so even if their predictions come true they still would have only 36, or 12 short of a majority.

SLIM VOTE IN OHIO

COLUMBUS, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Ohio voters—probably in fewest numbers in a score of years—ballot tomorrow for governor, 23 congressmen, four minor state officers, three Supreme Court judges, representatives in General Assembly, a state constitutional amendment, 361 local tax levies, 30 local option proposals and 20 bond issues.

Chief interest, of course, centered in the race for governor between Republican Gov. John W. Bricker, seeking a third term, and former congressman John McSweney of Wooster, Democrat.

While the candidates added the finishing touches to their campaigns today, rival party headquarters confidently predicted victory.

Don C. Power, Republican campaign chairman, declared Bricker would win by at least 250,000 votes, perhaps more, and Darrell Jones, Democratic state chairman, said McSweney would command a 100,000 majority.

Allied Nazi Attack Now Shifts To Caucasus

Turkey Stiffens Attitude
Toward Axis as Aussies
Surge Across Desert

(By The Associated Press)

Concurrently with the growth of the German threat to breach the Caucasus Mountain wall where Russia defends not only her own oil riches but also a vital approach to the Middle East, Turkey has voiced her fear of attack.

The strong Allied showing in Africa—marked today by a report from the Egyptian battlefield that a chunk of the Axis army had been cut off along the Mediterranean—no doubt added to Turkey's inclination to speak her mind.

In the eventuality of a German breakthrough in the Caucasus or a sharp reversal of the British army's offensive in Egypt, Turkey would have Axis armies not only at her European front door but also at her back door in the Asia Minor part of the Middle East.

PRESIDENT TO GET MANPOWER REPORT

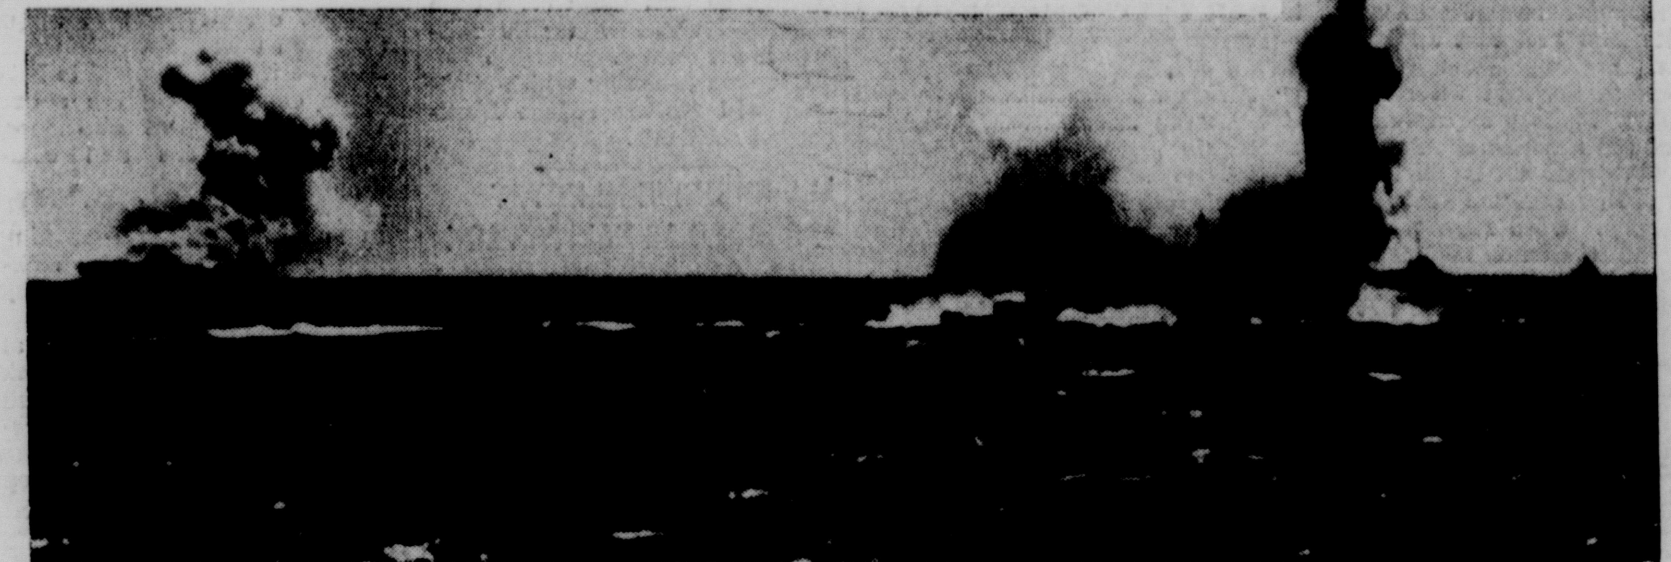

War Workers Drafted,
According to Complaint

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—(AP)—War Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt said today there had been widespread complaint that Selective Service boards were continuing to draft workers needed in war industry despite directives intended to guide them in deferring such men.

At the same time McNutt told a press conference that he had sent President Roosevelt today the long-awaited report of his management-labor advisory committee on the manpower situation, opening the way for possible executive action on the question.

Death of O'Brien Going to Aid of Wasp

This photo, one of the most remarkable pictures of the war, was taken just as an enemy torpedo struck the side of the U. S. destroyer O'Brien as she went to the rescue of the burning carrier Wasp in the background. The wake of the torpedo that sent the destroyer to the bottom is clearly visible. The Wasp, flaming furiously after being hit by three torpedoes, was finished off by a U. S. destroyer. This is U. S. Navy photo.

Tightening Grip Of War Is Being Felt in Canada

(By The Associated Press)

OTTAWA, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Canada's war economy slipped into higher gear today and most Canadians felt the resulting change as a series of freezing orders and restrictions went into effect with the opening of business.

Perhaps the most sweeping alteration in Canadian business life was contained in the order by the board of prices freezing a variety of business establishments at their present status and forbidding the starting of new

EATING HABITS OF AMERICANS LIKELY TO UNDERGO CHANGES

WPB, Scouting Difficulties, Has Proposed Appointment of Food Administrator To Control Production and Distribution but Agriculture Department Views Differ Substantially

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Eating habits of American civilians for the duration of the war may be determined largely by the decision President Roosevelt makes on a proposal that he appoint a food administrator to control production and consumption.

The proposal, advanced by war production board chairman Donald M. Nelson, reflects sharp and fundamental differences within the government over war food requirements and the possibility of further shortages. At the bottom of these differences is the question of how much manpower, machinery, transportation, and other facilities should be devoted to food production.

On the one hand are those—including Secretary of Agriculture Wickard—who believe that food production should be maintained at as near present record levels as possible. On the other are those—including some war production board officials and military authorities—who believe that the country cannot meet both its military manpower and material needs and still maintain agricultural production at anywhere near present levels.

Another issue has been allocation of materials for farm machinery. The WPB will allow farmers to get only 23 percent as much machinery as they bought in 1940. Wickard believes this far too small. Causing other disagreements is the matter of controlling existing food supplies. Wickard is known to favor immediate allocation or rationing programs for all major classes of food.

Praise Lord and Pass Ammunition Credited to Former Ohio Grid Star

NEW CONCORD, Nov. 2.—(AP)—A former Muskingum College football star was acclaimed by the nation today as the man who inspired America's popular battle cry of World War II—"Praise the Lord and pass the ammunition."

Lieut. Howell Forgy, a Navy chaplain, acknowledged at Pearl Harbor over the week end that he had uttered that now-famous phrase in pepping up sailors during the hellish moments of the surprise Japanese attack on the country's Pacific outpost last December.

Forgy, an All-Ohio-Conference tackle on Muskingum's unbeaten, untied 1931 football team, said he used the words—since then put into a song that has swept the nation—as he slapped the sailors on the back.

The 34-year-old chaplain from Haddonfield, N. J., attended Muskingum College for four years, graduating in 1932. His wife, the former Louise Morgan, of Princeton, Ky., presented him with a son, Michael, three weeks ago. The chaplain has not seen the boy.

Mrs. Maurice Forgy the chaplain's mother, admitted at Haddonfield that "It's a little confusing to find Howell on the front pages all of a sudden but now that I think of it that phrase is just like Howell isn't it Ruth?" she asked his younger sister.

Ruth nodded and smiled. "He's so witty and full of puns," she explained.

But despite the popularity of the song, the chaplain's parents said they had not heard the melody until after receiving the news that their son had used the slogan.

'Lady Bountiful' Finally Revealed Just Plain Thief

(By The Associated Press)

TOLEDO, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Police reported today that the 17-year-old "lady bountiful" who spent $500 in five days on clothes for herself and three little newsboys here was telling the truth when she said she stole $5,000 from the cash box of a former Denver woman probation officer.

Denver police notified police Sgt. Margaret Slater that Miss Flossie Higan, former Denver police probation officer, who previously denied being robbed, finally admitted the loss of $5,300 from her home and will prosecute the girl, who is a ward of Denver Juvenile Court.

YANK FLIERS BLAST SHIPS AT HONG KONG

Dive-bombing Is Tried by
P-40 Planes

WITH AMERICAN AIR FORCES IN CHINA, Oct. 31.—(Delayed)—(AP)—American airmen flying shark-nosed P-40's, known hereabouts as "Pea-Shooters," introduced a new trick in their air warfare with a dive-bombing assault on Hong Kong last Wednesday.

One big merchant ship was left in flames by a direct hit, and near-misses were scored against two others in this third raid within a week upon the Japanese-occupied British crown colony.

This dive-bombing assault was the first in this theater by the Curtiss P-40's, built originally a fighters but now become jacks of all trades in the hands of resourceful Americans.

LOSSES HEAVY ON BOTH SIDES IN FAR PACIFIC

YANKS CAN CLAIM VICTORY

Meanwhile, Army Bombers
Spread Destruction
Among Nip Bases

By CLYDE A. FARNSWORTH

(By The Associated Press)
Adding to its score against the Japanese Imperial navy in an offensive which seems to have saved Guadalcanal, the United States Navy announced today that seven more enemy vessels had been sunk by American submarines.

Apart from these recent sinkings, the roving submarines of the Pacific fleet also damaged three Japanese ships, including a converted aircraft carrier which was left aflame.

The ships destroyed were listed as one large passenger-cargo vessel, two large tankers, two medium sized and two small cargo ships.

In addition to the aircraft carrier, the damaged ships were a destroyer and a medium-sized tanker.

The sinkings increased the total of enemy ships reported sunk or damaged in the Pacific by submarines alone, since Pearl Harbor, to 133—or 86 sunk, 20 probably sunk and 27 damaged.

For a week now the United States Navy has ruled the waters around our difficult offensive lodgement on Guadalcanal in the Solomons, not by Japanese suffrance but by virtue of the great naval-air battle of last Monday in which, it appears from current reports, we dished out about as much damage as we took.

Guadalcanal indeed may have been saved.

As against the loss of an as yet unidentified United States aircraft carrier and the destroyer Porter, along with damage to other vessels, the Americans scored damaging torpedo and bomb hits on seven large Japanese ships.

A Sunday communique based on details received from the new naval commander for the South Pacific area, Vice Admiral William H. Halsey, added that more than 100 Japanese planes were destroyed and 50 others probably destroyed.

The Japanese ships were ready to join hands with counter-offensive forces already landed on Guadalcanal for an all-out assault when the United States Naval Force gave battle last Monday some 200 miles northeast of Guadalcanal.

The Japanese force retired after the engagement, and the enemy's first major effort to crush the Marine and Army

RAILROADS SNUB WOMEN WORKERS

Feminine Ranks Dominate in Other Fields, However

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—(AP)—Women hold jobs in every field except that of operating railroads and fighting fires, the Census Bureau disclosed today in a survey of male and female occupations reported in the 1940 census.

Of the 11,138,178 women who were working during the week of March 24, 1940, not one was a railroad conductor, engineer, baggage handler, fireman, brakeman or switchman, and not one was a fireman in a fire department.

The 34,027,905 men employed this week were scattered through all of the 451 official occupation classifications.

CLOVER SEED TO BE LESS DURING COMING SEASON

More Grass Seed Available For Sowing Report Discloses

Farmers in this community will find clover seed somewhat scarce for next spring's planting, but will find more grass seed available, according to reports issued by the Agricultural Extension Service of Ohio State University.

Rainfall during the summer months resulted in a plentiful supply of timothy, red top, bluegrass, orchard grass and meadow fescue seed but reduced the yield of alsike, red, and sweet clover seed. Alfalfa seed is less plentiful than in the fall of 1941.

Rural economists at Ohio State University report the 1942 alfalfa seed crop was 25 percent smaller in acreage but a 22 percent increase in seed yield per acre brought the harvest to within 9 percent of the 1941 crop. However, the carry-over of seed is smaller than in past years, so the total supply available for planting is 11 percent below amounts available in 1941 and 32 percent less than the 1940 supply.

The total supply of red clover is expected to be the smallest available in the past five years and is 20 percent lower than the 1941 supply. Ohio is one of the important red clover seed producing states, but the farmers here cut fewer acres and had less than normal yield. The 1941 harvest was about 33 percent below that of 1940.

The current crop of alsike clover seed is 19 percent less than that of a year ago but the carryover is expected to make total supplies reach within 15 percent of the 1941 total. The U. S. sweet clover seed harvest is down about 9 percent, as compared with 1941, and Ohio has 5 percent less seed than a year ago.

Sudan is one of the few true grasses of which less seed is available than in 1941. The yield is expected to be 41 percent less than for 1941 and is 14 percent less than for 1940.

Trees Available From The State

Small Charge Is Made To Cover Expense

A new crop of hardwood and coniferous trees, produced by state nurseries supervised by the Ohio Division of Forestry, are now ready for distribution to farmers who wish them for reforestation or windbreak plantings.

Farmers in this community who wish them can obtain order blanks from County Agent W. W. Montgomery, and the price covers only production costs. None are available for ornamental plantings.

All hardwood except cottonwoods are seedlings which range in price from $2 to $3.50 per 1,000. Conifers, except pine, are transplants with prices from $3 to $8 per 1,000.

Farmers who order trees must agree to plant them according to instructions given by the state forester.

Spices Shortage Due To World War

The spice shortage due to World War conditions is becoming increasingly acute, and some of the usual spices, most frequently used, are now almost unobtainable.

Some of the stores are almost entirely out of nearly all spices, while others have small supplies of part of the line they usually carry.

Indications are that a further shortage will occur.

W.C.T.U. Holds Its Regular Meeting Friday

The Washington Court House W.C.T.U. met for their regular meeting in the First Baptist Church on Friday afternoon.

The president, Mrs. Margaret D. Case, presided over the meeting and opened it with a short prayer.

The devotionals were conducted by Mrs. Frank Christopher, who read appropriate passages of scripture, and offered a prayer.

Hallowe'en Dance At Country Club Is Gay Success

The Country Club staged a scene of carnival revelry Saturday night, with a motley gathering of merry-makers for the "All-Out-For-Victory" dance, the annual Hallowe'en dance. Over eighty merry-makers, gay in their costumes of cottons, suggestive of "hard times," reveled in as jolly a dance as fun and frolic, good music and Hallowe'en setting could promote. Weird light streamed through the pumpkin lanterns masking incandescent bulbs, and festoons of black cats, bats and owls added to the spookiness of the witch night. Gigantic balls of orange and black hung from the chandeliers, adding effective notes.

Music was furnished by the record player, with the latest hits provided for it by Dr. O. W. House.

Great, juicy hamburgers, with all the added accessories and coffee were served at half past twelve and were exceptionally welcomed and enjoyed viands.

The dance was amirably managed by an alert committee, and put over with expert skill. The committee included Mr. and Mrs. Ormond S. Dewey, chairman, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. Jean S. Nisley, Dr. and Mrs. Francis Haines and Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Limes.

Joining the local gay revelers were Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Pennington, of Cincinnati and Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Druley of Wilmington, Lt. Phillip Fletcher and Lt. John Hackenger, of Wright Field.

Two Hosts Give Gay Party to Group of Friends

A happy and gay group of young people enjoyed the delightful party Friday evening for which Ronald and Roger Davis were hosts.

Welcoming the young guests was a huge pumpkin, glowing in the front window, with many blackcats and jack o'lanterns lighting the remainder of the home. Orange and black streamers were effectively draped throughout the rooms, and the setting perfect for the jolly affair.

Games and contests were enjoyed during the evening with everyone in masquerade costumes ranging from the ridiculous to the sublime, causing much hilarity.

Refreshments most suggestive of the date was served to the group late in the evening.

Oh, To Be Hungarian Now That Massey's Here
AKRON—Movie star Ilona Massey walked into a roomful of 50 men here, took one look at a man she'd never seen before—62-year-old John Bosnyak—then kissed him.
The 50 men represented several thousand B. F. Goodrich Company employees to whom Miss Massey was presenting a Treasury Department flag signifying that 99.2 percent of the plant workers buy war bonds every payday. Said the Hungarian-born star to explain the kiss: "I knew he was Hungarian, too, the minute I saw him."

Today's Horoscope

Those who have birthdays today are forceful personalities, persevering and uncompromising in their impressions. They have lofty ideals and are outspoken. They lack tact and are dogmatic in their ideas of right and wrong, but love ardently and should choose sympathetic, understanding mates. Broadly speaking, a successful year lies ahead of them. They will benefit through secret matters, correspondence, travel and social activities; nevertheless, they should exercise caution in speech and legal matters. Born on this date a child will be moderately fortunate. He or she will be quick-witted, active, confident and determined, but liable to rely too much on specious promises.

in the service by ballyhooing sacrifice and victory out of one corner of our mouth, while out of the other corner we confess to a cynical, "realistic" belief that the war debt will never be paid. This is the easy path for us on the home front.

The other path, the honest path, will take the courage shown at Bataan. But it will save American freedom—after the war—as well as speed winning the war. Inflation must be stopped by rigorous enforcement of price stabilization laws. Drastic taxation must be levied as equitably as possible against all groups. Forced savings and payroll deductions are equally essential, in addition to the gigantic financing task being carried by the private banks. Enterprise should be allowed to earmark reserves for reconversion to civilian production after the war. Profligate bureaucracy must be curbed. These are a few of the steps along the hard path to victory. There will be many more if we intend to do more than talk sacrifice on the home front, or if we intend to save the spiritual and economic freedom that thousands of men are dying for every day.

Now we give more thought to the tires on our automobile in one day than we had given them in all the years we have owned a car.

Cause of Jaundice Epidemic in Armed Forces Is Obscure

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
THE REPORT of the Surgeon-General on the epidemic of jaundice which affected personnel of the Armed Forces from January to June, 1942, is now at hand. Although I have had numerous inquiries, I have deferred discussing it until accurate information was available.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

available. The Surgeon-General's report is authoritative, accurate and frank, but it is evident that the cause and nature of the epidemic is more or less of a mystery.

The cause of the epidemic was ascribed to the use of yellow fever vaccine; or to be exact, of certain lots of yellow fever vaccine. All large outbreaks were associated with the administration of these lots of vaccine. It could be predicted, after the association was known, that troops at far distant stations who had been inoculated with these lots would come down with jaundice in a proportion of cases.

But what there was in the vaccine that caused it is unknown. All Army, Navy and Public Health forces were for a time vaccinated with serum made the same way and no case of jaundice resulted. The serum has been subjected to a change in process of manufacturing and extensively tested, so that all safeguards for future vaccinations have been made. Only troops destined for points where there is danger of yellow fever will be vaccinated, at least for a time.

Fever More Dangerous
It should be emphasized that vaccination against yellow fever is a recognized method of preventing a disease which would be far more dangerous than the jaundice of this epidemic.

Jaundice is due to a variety of things, one being a destruction of liver cells, and since yellow fever derives its name from a jaundice of that sort, it was naturally suggested at first that these were

Road to Romance

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN
BRUCE MARTIN heard the crash of the plane on the flying field as he opened his locker to throw in his flying clothes. He stood there staring into the locker with an empty gaze, knowing instantly what had happened. And knowing he had been cheated again!

The ship had been his job. For several days he had been ready to take it up. He'd been ready today and, except for the fight with the boss... It had been short, hot, bitter, climaxing his angry impatience at a three-day wait for re-checking on the plane, then an order to come back to the plant today for the test flight—his day off.

"All right!" he could hear the boss' voice now, in dry, biting fury. Get out of here! I wouldn't let you take up the plane in the mood you're in now. Go to the races if you want—go any place you please—but get out! I'm fed up with you today!

Slowly Bruce pushed the flying suit into the small locker and closed the door. Pigtown he was pretty fed up with himself. Automatically he started for the field on the run. He reached the door as John Danver, the F. B. I. chief, hurried out of his office. Danver looked surprised.

"Thought you were going up today, Martin."

"Well, I didn't." He didn't wait to glower at the ever inquisitive Danver, but hurried on.

Already the siren of the company ambulance was wailing across the field and the big white car drew to a halt beside the burning plane. It was at the far end of the flying field from the hangars and by the time Bruce and Danver had reached the scene, the ambulance was moving away, the onlookers transferring their fascinated gaze to the burning plane.

Bruce stopped beside a white-faced young mechanic. "What happened?" he asked tersely.

"I don't know," said the man. Then he added through clenched jaws, "But there wasn't anything wrong with it this morning!"

An engineer moved over from the crowd. "They all thought you were flying it," he said to Bruce.

Bruce chuckled bitterly. "You mean they all hoped I was?"

"Didn't they put two people in that ambulance?" Danver asked.

The engineer nodded. "Yeah, but the pilot was the only one hurt. The other was just a girl from the plant. She pulled a cute one, all right. Swell, red-haired little number, too. She ran out on the field practically to the burning plane."

He remembered as he looked at her heart-shaped face, so transparent now in its frame of flaming hair, that she had looked like this that night at the hospital when she had been frightened over Fran. He had thought, "She must be crazy about her roommate."

He asked, "Why did you run out to the plane?"

Mary's wide green eyes were piteous in their honesty. "They said it was you in it," she whispered.

Bruce Martin dropped her hand.

He stood looking at her while strange, conflicting feelings passed through him. The sneering taunt died in his throat, the quick irritation of embarrassment collapsed under puzzled wonder.

"You mean," he stammered slowly, "you'd get that scared—for me?"

Mary closed tell-tale eyes, but a smile tugged at the corners of her lips.

"I'm sorry," she whispered. "I'm such a fool."

The nurse was back again, her fingers on Mary's pulse, her voice briskly cheery. "How're you feeling?" she asked.

"Fine," Mary smiled at her.

"We're going to send you home as soon as you're able. You can rest better in your own bed. And if you don't feel able to come tomorrow, stay right there."

Bruce moved up beside the nurse. "I'll take her home," he said quietly.

The nurse nodded her consent but as she lifted her fingers from Mary's pulse she smiled enigmatically. There was an awful lot one could learn about a person, she mused, as she went back to her desk, if you happened to have your finger on his pulse at certain moments.

Bruce drove her home, lifted her from the low gray car and helped her up the two flights to the apartment. While Mary lay on the living room sofa, he went to fix the hot brandy toddy the nurse had suggested. He held her with an arm under her shoulders while she drank it, then gently eased her back onto the pillows.

"That'll make you sleep," he told her. He was worried. He felt the same responsibility for this fragile little person as he did for his plane when he heard something go wrong with its delicate mechanism and knew it was up to him to get it safely back onto terra firma.

"Do you want anything else?" She shook her head and smiled at him weakly.

"Well, I'd better run along before your landlady comes up and throws me out." He leaned down to tweak her ear. "Bye, Redhead. And don't pull any more of this fainting business, see!"

She nodded obediently. And suddenly she asked, "Bruce, are you happy?"

He was startled. In all his headstrong, stubborn life, he had never known an uncalculating, undemanding tenderness. He frowned at her in confusion, finally found his old feeling smile.

"Sure," he said gruffly. "Why not?" He left her without looking back.

They're Turning 'Em Out at Vultee Plant

(By The Associated Press)
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2—It is the combination of plant planning and production control which brings you out of the Vultee aircraft factory with the inescapable impression that everyone and everything in the plant is working towards one key point—the line of completed training planes rolling out of the open doors and into the test field.

Plant planning aimed every machine work bench toward that powered final assembly line. Production control keeps the supply of material and the manufacture of parts in step with the work in hand, so that the pace of the final assembly line is the pace for every subordinate department.

The plant planning was no accident, even though it was achieved under a sudden and extensive expansion, with S. "Hap" Mulligan (nobody seems to know what the "S" stands for) as chief supervisor, a scale model of the enlarged plant was constructed. The model showed every bench, every lathe and every station on the assembly line, even to tiny models of the planes themselves as they grew from fuselages to completed aircraft.

The accuracy of the scale made possible accurate work-time studies. Sub-assemblies, major assemblies and final assembly installations were planned for a minimum of time to be spent in carrying parts or work orders from here to there—or, in Vultee's pet paraphraseology, "no tug, no lug, no crawl."

Once the floor plan and building expansion were completed, the changeover process began. While it was at its height, a workman would leave his machine in the evening and have to be led to it the next morning because it had been picked up and moved during the night. Yet because these moves were made in sections, and in spite of the fact each piece of equipment with the exception of a giant hydropress was shifted to a new location, not a single manhour of work was lost—no major reason Vultee recently was awarded the army-navy "E".

FLAG SAVING VS POLITICAL FLAG WAVING

Many people thoughtlessly feel that we must win the war before beginning to think about post war problems. Unfortunately, as was recently pointed out by the government fiscal expert, Dr. Gerhard Colm, the war is not an isolated episode separated from the past and the future. People fight today, Dr. Colm said, not only to win the war, but to win the peace. "Winning the war requires during the war the establishment of the conditions upon which a secure and free world can be built after the war." Actually those who think we must fight the war and worry about the peace afterwards, deserve short shrift. They would carry half a burden, leaving the other half for the returning soldiers.

More than in any other single thing, except the war, the key to our future lies in the government's fiscal policy. There are two paths we can take. We can play the double-crossing hypocrite to our men

Washington at a Glance

By Charles P. Stewart

WASHINGTON — That Herr Hitler deliberately wants to provoke the anti-Axis countries into butchering their German war prisoners is taken for granted in Washington and London, and maybe elsewhere throughout the world.

He aims to do it, it's assumed, by beginning to kill the prisoners he takes, in the expectation that their various countries will retaliate in kind.

That's the interpretation placed on his abandonment of Nazi recognition of the Geneva Convention, which was drawn to end wartime's inhumanities as far as possible, and which pledged its signatories, among other things, to decent treatment of helpless captives in their opposing midst.

The supposition is that Adolf senses a German inclination to give up and plans to counteract it by convincing his followers that, if they do, they'll be massacred.

The United Nations' murder of a considerable number of their captured Nazis might give such an impression, and the Fuehrer hopes to irritate the democracies into doing their desired part by slaughtering some of their soldiers in his own hands.

Germans it's proper to say sacrificed many lives for the cause of the Axis.

It's a Nazi ally, as gone all to pieces.

Spain's previously sympathetic fascist government may still be sympathetic, but it's ceased, less because it's lost confidence in the Fuehrer's final outcome as a possible ally.

With American troops out, and clammy.

(Pol. Adv.)

Japan never did have any interest except its own, in the Axis.

If the Nazis are compelled to rely, now, upon the hoped-for murder of German prisoners, by the democracies, to hold the Fatherland itself in line, the guessing is that Adolf's justified in a good bit of pessimism—though of course he doesn't plead guilty to any.

Disposing of Hitler
What'll happen to Mr. Hitler if the ground caves completely from under him isn't a matter of much speculation.

True, a pair of alternatives are suggested.

One is that the Germans themselves will dispose of him. Very few commentators surmise that he'll be permitted to duck out as the Kaiser did and die gradually in some little foreign country.

The other is that he'll attend to his own case when he realizes that he's done for. The Germans are rather celebrated for doing so in emergencies of the kind. It's known as "doing the German." He's regarded as just the sort of chap from whom a case of it might be anticipated. All hands assess him as "nutty," anyway.

It wouldn't be so nutty in his instance, either.

That he'll wait to be caught and tried on ordinary criminal charges, as President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill have suggested, is generally rated as a decided improbability.

That he won't murder some war prisoners, though, in the meantime, isn't regarded as such safe betting.

Beautiful Party Is Given To Celebrate Fifth Birthday Of Pretty Portia Brownell

A perfect climax to the Halloween season and its many festivities was the beautiful birthday party staged by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brownell, Jr., for their charming little five year old daughter, Portia, on the afternoon of November first at the Washington Country Club. The bright November day and the natural beauty of the club's setting enhanced by gay Halloween decorations added to the cheer and pleasures of the little tots who were so cunning in their pretty and colorful party frocks. Nothing had been left undone in planning for the delight of the afternoon, and the joyousness of the youngsters attested to the thorough good time which was provided for them.

Receiving in a smart aqua blue shantung frock with embroidered eyelet top and lace trim, lovely little Portia with her black hair and gray blue eyes was a picture of piquancy and charm as she greeted her guests. The party got off to a good start with favorite games enjoyed by the children, followed by a "fish pond" in which each child "caught" a clever gift. Following this, the youngsters hunted for candy kisses hidden throughout the lounge, the prize awarded to Frances Joan Scaggs for finding the greatest number. After this merry contest, the youngsters formed in line and marched to music through the club lounge with spotlights and cameras turned on them, recording many spills of the smaller ones, and much hilarity.

At the far end of the lounge a long table heaped with gaily wrapped gifts of all sizes and shapes next took the center of attention while the little hostess, seated in the center, unwrapped each gift and responded prettily. A beautiful birthday cake, frosted in pink, and having five lighted pink candles was placed before her and the wishing and blowing out the candles provided much gaiety.

An unforgettable picture completed the gay afternoon when each child donned a bright colored jaunty crepe paper hat, and seated around the large lounge, was served delicious ice cream and cake with all the birthday trimmings. The spontaneity and individuality of each child as they entered into the games and sheer fun of the afternoon left little doubt that the party had been one of the highlights of their youthful experience.

Assisting in the hospitalities were: Mrs. Ed Fite, Mrs. Dean Fite, Mrs. Thomas Christopher, Mrs. N. M. Reiff, Miss Kathryn Foster and Miss Dixie Ellison.

Guests for the party included: Nancy Ann, Jackie and Frank Hedges, of Hillsboro; Patty and Peggy Corcoran, of Grove City; David Fite, of Columbus; and Elizabeth Ann and Linda Loundner, Marilyn and Michael Cunningham, Sandra Campbell, Marlene and Darlene Thornton, Anna Marie Hermes, Jimmy Croker, Jane Van Voorhis, Jowanda Wilson, Robbie Hagler, Evelyn Lloyd, Jerry Danton, Bobby Danton, Judy and Roxie Rost, Faye Ann Sagar, Teddy Willis, Pat O'Connor, Ann Dews, Mary McDonald, Julia Andrews, Joan and Linda Halliday, Sue Riley, Ann Taylor, Sue Ann and Tommy Christopher, Sally and Mary Jo Reiff, Dianne Elliott, Ann Hire, Natalie McLean, Webb Ellis, Diana Everhart, Julia and Jeannie Persinger, Jo Ann and Margaret Alice Campbell, Patty Ireland, Sue and David Barchet, Sarah Core, Elizabeth and Johnny Otis, Elaine Nylan, Sylvia Cooper, Eddie Korn, Joanne Anderson, Connie Locks, Kay Mitchell, Bobby Crouse, David Vance, Ann Ducey, Janet McCord, Rosanne Helfrich, Carol Ann Beatty, Cathy Wright, Jane Ann, Marlene Shurman, Frances Joan Scaggs, Martha Parrett, Melina DeBolt and Beverly Baughn.

FAYETTE FARM BUREAU GOAL IS 450 DURING 1943

30,000 Membership Being Sought in Ohio in Coming Campaign

Fayette County's Farm Bureau goal for 1943 has been fixed at 450 members, or the largest membership of the organization in the past 17 years.

At the present time the membership of the organization is 434, which is unusually high and places the county in the front ranks in Ohio in number of members.

In Ohio generally the membership goal of the Farm Bureau has been fixed at 30,000 according to announcement of the trustees of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation. L. J. Bennett is director of organization of the state organization.

The trustees adopted the goal figure at their regular meeting this month as they approved plans for the 1943 statewide Farm Bureau enrollment to be launched soon.

Membership solicitation for 1943 will be taken by volunteer workers under the supervision of a full time organization leader in each county. Superiority of this method of solicitation has been demonstrated by the results of many County Farm Bureaus in Ohio as they have used this method the past two years.

Present membership in the Farm Bureau totals 25,968 families throughout Ohio. This exceeds the goal for 1942 as set last January by the trustees by 968 farm families. It is the largest membership enrollment in the Farm Bureau in 17 years.

Program recommendations for the enrollment drive, made to the board by a committee of organization fieldmen, will be presented at the 24th annual convention of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation to be held at the Neil House, Columbus, November 18 to 20. Preceding this convention most County Farm Bureaus will hold annual meetings. Resolutions adopted at the county meetings will then be submitted for consideration at the state meeting.

The White House was first occupied by John Adams, in 1800.

BEEKEEPERS URGED TO CHECK HONEY

Fear Many Colonies Will Perish This Winter

Fayette County beekeepers, as well as those throughout the state, are being urged by W. E. Dunham, specialist in entomology, Ohio State University, to immediately check their colonies to determine the amount of honey in each hive and to make sure none of the colonies are affected by foulbrood.

Dunham states that the bees will need at least eight full frames of honey for winter consumption. Ohio bees have had a good period for gathering pollen so the examination of the hives also should disclose whether the bees are long on pollen and short on nectar.

One colony killed by foulbrood during the winter, may infect every apiary within two miles if other bees start robbing the tenantless hive during the following spring.

The honey yield in Fayette County this year is about one-half normal, according to some of the leading beekeepers.

PRONOUNCED GAIN IN TAX RECEIPTS

Week Ending October 17th Shows Heavy Sales

Sales of prepaid tax receipts in Fayette County for the week ending October 17, were nearly $300 greater than during the same week last year, regardless of the fact that automobile and tire sales as well as other goods are virtually off the market at the present time.

Total sales for the week reached $2,564.67 compared with $2,272.14, and brought the total so far this year to $87,547.85 and for the same time last year $100,550.28.

The gain here is more noteworthy when it is known that in the state generally during the week the sales were down from $47,703,563.34 in 1941 to $41,963,323.25.

Both the food and general classifications showed marked improvement as compared with a year ago, the former moving up from $106,132.18 to $123,585.04 while the latter jumped from $132,856.24 to $205,325.31.

I Am Qualified

As a voter I always wanted to know the attitude which the Candidate for Representative had on legislative matters of vital importance to the people of Fayette County.

As a candidate, I believe that you voters wanted to know MY attitude.

I have endeavored to give you this information in a clear and definite manner.

I have stated my position on important subjects, now I will state some of my qualifications.

I am a Dirt Farmer and an active Grange member, which gives me a thorough understanding of the Farmer's problems.

I have been an employee in both large and small businesses and know the employee's problems.

I am a member of the SUGAR CREEK BAPTIST CHURCH.

I am a member of the Lions Club and the Fraternal Order of Eagles. Both doing welfare work.

I am the father of two children in school, therefore I am vitally interested in the welfare of our schools.

I SERVED AS DEPUTY AUDITOR OF FAYETTE COUNTY FOR SEVEN YEARS. IN THIS WORK I BECAME THOROUGHLY FAMILIAR WITH THE FINANCIAL PROBLEMS OF OUR SCHOOLS, TOWNSHIPS, VILLAGES, CITY AND COUNTY GOVERNMENTS. TAX LEGISLATION AFFECTS ALL OF US AND IS AN ISSUE WHICH EVERY MEMBER OF THE LEGISLATURE MUST FACE. MY CONNECTION WITH THE COUNTY AUDITOR'S OFFICE HAS GIVEN ME AS GREAT AN OPPORTUNITY TO STUDY THE PRACTICAL APPLICATION OF TAX LAWS AS CAN BE OBTAINED IN ANY FIELD OF WORK.

Prayer to AMERICANS!

...and bless the folks at home...

"Tell 'em we didn't run out of courage here on Corregidor. It was the bullets and food and quinine and sulfa drugs that gave out. When the Japs finally swarmed in, 20-to-1, the boys kept right on fighting, with their hands and with rocks and with clubs... weak with dysentery... wild with the delirium of malaria.

"Tell the folks we know they're coming back to Bataan to get us out of here. But, tell 'em please, to come with plenty of planes and guns and ships and tanks. Tell 'em we'll wait... we'll take it... the rotten food, the filth, the misery, the clubbings, the heartbreak.

"Tell 'em to buy those War Bonds... and buy all they can. We want to see the China sea filled with our destroyers and the sky here black with our planes. And we want to see a Garand rifle in the hands of every boy on the transports.

"We'll hang on... the fifteen thousand of us here in Hell. We'll hang on while the folks buy those War Bonds. Every American heart in a Japanese concentration camp wants you to come... but come shooting."

COMEBACKER—Henry Armstrong, ex-welter king, is on comeback trail. Here he fights Fritz Zivic on coast.

-Spying- On Sports

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2—(AP)—This is one day when baseball players may be worrying about the draft, but aren't afraid of it. Anybody whose name comes out of the hat at Chicago will get a chance in the majors—and he'll have pretty good prospects of sticking if he is classified 3-A or 4-F in the other draft.

This unrestricted draft business, as we get it, grew out of one of Judge Landis' anti-farm rulings. The old system was for a team with a lot of farms to switch all the good prospects to one club, then as soon as one was drafted the rest were safe. But the rule now reads that one club can't keep control of a player more than three years unless he is subject to the draft, so all the three-year men have to go into that unrestricted group or go out of the chain anyway.

Foxy Flumere, Northeastern U. football coach, hasn't complained about such difficulties as having a varsity squad that included 11 freshmen who only meet the upperclassmen when they have a game, having to play a one-armed lineman and a few other such difficulties, but he's a bit embarrassed about a happening at a recent freshman game. . . . Trying to give all the kids some action, Foxy saw a big fellow on the bench and hollered "Go in at right tackle." . . . Eddie McGovern Leading Scorer

NEW YORK, Nov. 2—(AP)—Eddie McGovern, Rose Poly halfback, garnered five touchdowns and five extra points Saturday as Rost drubbed Franklin, also of Indiana, and hiked his point collection for four games to 106—the best collegiate mark in the nation. His demonstration shunted Bob Steuber of Missouri to second place among the leaders in various sections. Steuber, leader a week ago with 83 points, was kept completely in check by the Sailors of Great Lakes.

BRITISH PLANE OUTPUT IS INCREASED IN SEPTEMBER

5 Touchdown Passes Tossed By Isbell to Break Pro Records

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 2—(P)—The magic wand of football, Cecil Isbell's arm, has become the most overworked weapon in the National Football League, throwing the Green Bay Packers to victory and the record books out the window.

Isbell shook five touchdown passes from his sieve yesterday as the Packers crushed the Chicago Cardinals 55 to 24. Beaten only by the Bears, the Green Bay eleven is gathering momentum for its second, and showdown meeting with the national champions Nov. 15 in Chicago.

Green Bay goes to Cleveland this Sunday while the Bears travel to Brooklyn, the Cardinals to Washington, Pittsburgh to Detroit and New York to Philadelphia.

The Washington Redskins, playing along in a two-game lead in the eastern division, downed the Philadelphia Eagles 30 to 27. The Cleveland Rams virtually ruined the Brooklyn Dodgers' eastern division title chances by scooping up a 17 to 0 triumph to move into third position in the western section. George Plutukis recovered a fumble and lumbered 36 yards for one touchdown. The second capped a 70 yard drive, with Parker Hall, dusting end for nine yards and the marker. Chet Adams closed the scoring with a 36-yard field goal.

Rolling to their 19th consecutive win, the Bears handed the Detroit Lions their seventh straight setback, 16 to 0, in a successful debut for co-coaches Luke Johnson and Hunk Anderson. Curt Sandig of St. Mary's Texas and Bill Dudley of Virginia—a pair of rookies—darted 62 and 65 yards, respectively, to herd the Pittsburgh Steelers to a 17 to 9 victory over the New York Giants. Y

Sports Sputtering

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK—(P)—If you have been wondering how the U. S. Military Academy could lose 34 of the 44 members on its football squad of a year ago and still approach the coming November with an unbeaten eleven, perhaps this will help you. . . . Bud Troxell, the cadet fullback, played for Dartmouth last season. . . . substitute halfback, Bob Woods, was a first stringer at Navy last fall before flanking out and winning a West Point appointment. . . . and Francis Merritt, sophomore tackle, was a sensation as a Fordham Fresh in 1940.

Perhaps even Connie Mack has forgotten that he coached the champion pro football team of the state of Pennsylvania in 1902. When the Philadelphia National League baseball club sponsored a pro eleven in 1901, the Athletics retaliated the next season with a club and Mack as coach.

The Mackmen walloped the Phils and then went to Pittsburgh for the state title game. It ended in a tie but on the following Sunday the Athletics won, 12 to 6.

Connie and his gridders warm up for the Pittsburgh scrap by playing at Elmira on Friday, another game on Saturday. They cooled off with a fourth game in four days at Williamstown on Monday.

It was when the Monday game promised to be small that Mack sent his star baseball pitcher, Rube Waddell to parade the town wearing a placard. Waddell visited the high school during the noon hour and approximately a thousand students missed school that afternoon.

Skip Palrang, head coach at Creighton University, wound up his skull practice for quarterbacks with the ever present question: "It is third down and one to go, what would you do?"

Ten minutes after the session, Palrang went out to his car and found his third flat tire within a trio of days. Just then the quarterback contingent walked by.

"OK, coach," said one signal caller, "that's your third down. Now tell us what you are going to do."

COLLEGE GIRLS FORM FIRST CREW

Nancy Jackson, Cambridge, Mass. Jane Driscoll, Brookline, Mass. June Shark, Erie, Pa. Margaret Herrick, Southampton, N. Y. Gretchen Thannhauser, Brookline, Mass. Evelyn Barry, Arlington, Mass. Few Ball Players Left for Trading

CHICAGO, Nov. 2—(P)—The delayed Major League draft meeting will be held today in the office of Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis, but the turnout of club representatives may be slim.

With the crop of major league players pretty well taken care of by enlistments and Army draft calls, few major players possibilities were considered likely and many of the clubs were expected to handle their filing or waiving of draft claims by telegraph.

The meeting was delayed this year to permit the minor clubs more time to dispose of their players on a barter basis.

Football's Mighty Fall As Season Nearing End

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

NEW YORK, Nov. 2—(P)—With virtually all the conference pictures more clearly defined after last week's slam-bang program, the nation's football teams moved into the final month of the campaign today, many of them with stiff assignments dead ahead.

Although the coming weekend can't hope to produce anything as exciting as the past one, when such teams as Ohio State, Alabama, Army, Syracuse, Texas Christian and Detroit were bounced out of the undefeated ranks, there still will be enough action to go around.

In the Western Conference, Wisconsin stands alone at the front of the title chase after dumping Ohio State, 17-7, and the Badgers can protect that lead by taking their next three games, the first of them with Iowa next Saturday. Iowa's 31-6 triumph over Purdue was its second in three conference starts.

Ohio State has a non-conference date with Pitt this week and Purdue also steps out of the loop to play the Great Lakes Sailors, who blanked Missouri, 17-0.

After handing Illinois its first conference setback, 28-14, Michigan takes on Harvard in an inter-sectional duel. Illinois tangles with Northwestern and Minnesota, 19-7 conqueror of Northwestern, meets Indiana in conference play.

Army's 19-0 loss to Pennsylvania took a little of the edge off this week's tussle between the Cadets and Notre Dame at New York's Yankee Stadium, but the Irish prepared for the classic by sinking Navy, 9-0. Penny and Navy get together at Philadelphia at the same time.

Boston College, which remained unbeaten and untied by swamping Georgetown, 47 to 0, catches Temple, Georgia, which looms as the best in the south if not in the entire country after shopping previously unbeaten Alabama, 21-10, meets another but weaker Southeastern Conference opponent, Florida. Alabama tangles with South Carolina and Maryland, 13-0 winner over Florida. Georgia Tech, still unbeaten and untied after stopping Duke, 26-7, takes on Kentucky.

With Texas Christian out of the way, Baylor and Texas collide head-on with the Southwest Conference lead and perhaps the title at stake. Baylor knocks T.C.U. out of the unbeaten ranks 10-7, while Texas handies Southern Methodist, 21-7.

In the Pacific Coast Conference, first-place U.C.L.A. meets Oregon in quest of league victory number four.

Tulsa, unbeaten, untied and unscored on, meets Oklahoma A. and M. with Missouri Valley championship at stake.

Fishing Ponds To Be Opened For Ohioans

COLUMBUS, Nov. 2—(P)—Ohio's anglers may get a chance to fish in their own back yards —almost.

The State Conservation and Natural Resources Division plans to aid tire and gasoline rationed Disciples of Izaak Walton by opening hundreds of privately-owned lakes and ponds throughout the state.

The division will negotiate with 700 owners in an effort to increase to 1,200 the number of such fishing places open to anglers, said Conservation Commissioner Don Waters.

Under a new type agreement to be used after November 15 landowners would open lakes for three years to free, controlled public fishing and provide a lane for fishermen to enter and leave.

Lake owners could charge for boat tackle and bait.

TO THOSE RECEIVING AID FOR THE AGED

In a recent circular distributed by Raymond J. Jeffreys, Legislative Agent for the Ohio Society of Old Age Pensioners, some local candidates were not endorsed.

I quote from the letter I received from Mr. Jeffreys. "We are preparing Sample Ballots to be distributed among the Old Age Pensioners of Ohio for the November election.

"Would you like to share the cost and have your name on the ballots? If so please advise me At Once and send whatever you care to contribute toward the expense of printing, mailing, and distribution.

"We want to go to press as quickly as possible, in order for our people to hand them out and 'sell you'."

I did not care to contribute under these conditions and consequently did not receive an endorsement on this circular.

I always have believed in the old age pension and voted for it in 1933. I do not think that the worthy people who are receiving these pensions favor having some individual attempt to sell their influence and support.

I believe these people receiving pensions know who their real friends are and can think for themselves.

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—(P)—A pre-election holiday buying movement today lifted wheat and rye prices about a cent a bushel, with other grains following on the upturn.

Buying was not large, coming mostly from professional dealers covering previous short sales, but it had material price effect in view of the meager selling orders at times. Traders expressed belief routine flour business probably accounted for some of the strength and they pointed out free wheat offerings were limited by government purchases in the northwest and the more attractive loan rates.

Wheat closed 1/4-1 1/2 cents higher than Saturday, December 1.25-1.25 1/2, May 1.27-1.27 1/2; corn 3/4-1 1/2, December 79 3/4-79 1/2, May 85 1/4; oats 1-1 1/4; rye 1 1/2-1 3/4; soybeans quoted 1 1/2-1 3/4 higher.

County Farm Machinery Quotas To Be Established

DEALERS ASKED FOR INVENTORY OF EQUIPMENT

Permanent Rationing Plan To Be Drawn Up Under New Sales Program

The recent War Production Board order which froze all new farm machinery and equipment except repair parts beginning November 1 will remain in effect until a permanent rationing order is drawn up, it was announced today by Harry Silcott, chairman of the county farm machinery rationing committee.

State and county machinery quotas will be established by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Ohio USDA War Board in order to obtain the most effective use of the limited amount of new farm machinery and equipment allotted to the nation's farmers.

The War Production Board will use the state and county quotas as a basis for the permanent machinery rationing order.

In its first step toward the establishment of quotas, the Department of Agriculture has asked dealers, distributors, and manufacturers to report inventories of certain new farm machinery and equipment items on hand October 31, 1942.

The revised list of farm machinery and equipment included in this order is being mailed from the County USDA Office today to all dealers in the county, and will include also a copy of Amendment 2 to the original order.

Silcott said that when the quota system is established, the County Farm Machinery Rationing Committee will issue rationing certificates. Until the permanent ration program goes into effect, meanwhile, emergency needs for new machinery and equipment will be handled by the County Farm Machinery Rationing Committee, under the State War Board and Fred S. Wallace, special war board assistant to Secretary Wickard.

The freeze order issued by the WPB covers two main types of farm machinery:

(a) Most of the heavier labor-saving machines which are important as a result of the farm labor shortage. Dealers, distributors, and manufacturers, under the freeze order, may not sell or transfer any of the 144 items listed in this schedule.

(b) Miscellaneous items of farm machinery and equipment, generally requiring less metal in manufacture. The order will stop transfer of those items by distributors and manufacturers, may sell for farm use these items now in their stock.

The WPB order also forbids that community, rounded to move any items in Groups I or II except in the county where the new machinery or equipment is located November 1. No one, including dealers, may move Schedule I items from their location in one county to another. However, the War Board Assistant Wallace, may upon request authorize movement of machinery or equipment between counties.

Common carriers may complete delivery of new farm machinery or equipment accepted for shipment before November 1.

The War Production Board has ordered 1943 production of new farm machinery and equipment restricted to 20 percent of average production in 1940 and 1941 and production of repair parts was set at 130 percent of average output in 1940 and 1941 and covers the period from November 1, 1942 to October 31, 1943.

Order means, in effect, that farmers must give existing machinery extra special care and maintenance, that it must be given widest possible use.

The restriction order is not intended to hamper the war effort, but rather to help it by diverting precious steel into channels where it will most effectively assist the United Nations to batter down the enemy. It is estimated that the order restricting production of farm machinery will release approximately 500,000 tons of steel and other critical materials for direct war uses.

DIVORCE SUIT
In a suit filed in Common Pleas Court, Frank S. Braley asks divorce from Essie M. Braley, to whom he was married in Columbus, August 2, 1917. Gross neglect of duty and willful absence for more than three years are charged by the plaintiff, who is represented by Attorney E. L. Bush.

DOZEN ARRESTS MADE BY POLICE OVER WEEK END

Two Drunken Drivers Are Included in List of Those Picked Up

Police rounded up an even dozen offenders, most of them for being intoxicated, over the week end. The list of those taken into custody included two drunken drivers, a woman who was driving without a license and a man who had permitted her to operate his car, who also was listed on an intoxication charge.

Martin Butz, 56, Mt. Sterling, R. 1, was taken into custody about 1:40 A. M. Sunday. He later posted $56.20 for his appearance before Judge S. A. Murry, Monday.

Elza Baldrige, 36, Greenfield, was the second man taken into custody and listed for driving while intoxicated. He also posted $56.20 for his appearance in court Monday.

The $56.20 is the usual fine and costs assessed in Judge S. A. Murry's Court.

Mary Ries, 24, Chillicothe, was arrested for failing to have an operator's license, after the car she was driving had passed through a red light.

She was driving a car owned by Edward E. Beeler, 29, Chillicothe, who was listed for being intoxicated and permitting an unlicensed driver to operate his car. He posted bond for his appearance, and his companion was locked up for hearing later.

They were arrested at 1:20 A. M. Sunday.

Public Forum

The opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers, and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Record-Herald.

Washington Court House is to be congratulated on the quality of her children.

All of their lives they have had the fun of Hallowe'en, but this year, except in a few instances, they have shown a sober patriotism we could all copy.

There was very little destruction or inconvenience which would slow up our ordinary life, and comparatively little waste of the things we are asked to conserve.

If we, who are old enough to fight, at home or abroad, will sacrifice our fun and do our duty as well, we can win the war sooner. And we need have no fear, but that today's children will make good citizens in a good world, tomorrow.

Sincerely,
Mary Elizabeth Johnson

CITY IS QUIET ON HALLOWE'EN EVE THIS YEAR

Young America Shows Its Patriotism This Year In Sane Celebration

Police Monday were expressing their pleasure over the patriotic response made by the boys and girls—and the older cut-ups, to refrain from property damage and disturbance during Hallowe'en.

So well did they respond to the request, that only one call was booked by the police Saturday night, where some boys had gotten into mischief and resulted in the call being made.

It was the most quiet Hallowe'en in the history of the city and county, according to police and Sheriff Icenhower, for mischief generally was absent and even the soaping of windows and cars—a thing which had become a general nuisance—was almost eliminated.

No parade was held and no particular attention was given to the annual event, except the usual groups of small boys and girls on "begging" expeditions during Thursday and Friday nights. These were almost entirely absent on Saturday night.

Usually much damage results in the county at large, but this time no reports were received at the sheriff's office.

Appreciation of officials generally is expressed for the quiet celebration of Hallowe'en in the city and county.

SMALL CHILD DIES IN THIS CITY SUNDAY

Patricia Lou Timberman, aged 16 days, died Sunday at 7:30 P. M. at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Lawrence Johnson, 940 Gregg Street.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Timberman, and in addition to her parents is survived by four brothers and one sister, Everett, Ernest, Lewis, Delmar Lee and Evangeline.

Friends may call at the home of Mrs. Johnson, where funeral services will be held Tuesday at 10 A. M. and burial made in the Washington C. H. Cemetery.

Migrating butterflies that winter in Pacific Grove, California, are protected by city ordinance.

$3,490 Damage Action Due to Traffic Crash

In Common Pleas Court here, George N. Finley, of Mt. Sterling, who is employed in Washington C. H., has filed proceedings against the Albers Super Markets and Edward Hughes, of Cincinnati, asking $3,490 damages as result of a motor crash on the CCC Highway three miles north of Washington C. H. on December 19, 1941, at 6:50 A. M.

Plaintiff claims the defendants' truck was blocking the road, and fog partly obscured his vision. While he tried to prevent crashing into the truck, he was not able to avoid striking it with his motor vehicle, Finley states.

He charges the defendant was negligent and careless and had no flares or other signals as a warning.

His motor vehicle was damaged $400, plaintiff asserts and he lost use of it for 18 days, to his further damage in the sum of $90.

For personal injuries he asks $3,000.

Cowan and Adams, Columbus attorneys, represent the plaintiff.

THINK THIS OVER! THEN VOTE!

It is most essential today that we preserve the instruments by which the liberties, which we have surrendered to win the war, may be recovered after the war is won. The greatest of all these safeguards are the election, the ballot and the two-party system of government. The surest way to preserve the right to vote is to exercise it.

Every citizen should GO TO THE POLLS AND VOTE on November 3rd. It will be NOTICE TO THE DICTATORS AND THEIR FOLLOWERS that we intend to preserve the republic given to us by our forefathers.
